

Dee Jones

Dee Jones has been Director of Skillpoint Ltd since February 2003. She has sixteen years' experience of designing, writing and actively training a wide range of both soft and functional skills. Her training is tailor-made for delegates at all levels, across a wide range of business sectors, and for clients both in the UK and abroad. She prides herself in being a creative, energetic trainer, with a reputation for making training events easy to understand and fun to attend.

Dee's experience was gained from a sixteen year career with Walkers Snack Foods, two years in local government, and a short spell in high street retail sales. Dee is an Affiliate Member of the Chartered Institute of Personnel and Development; an Associate Member of the Institute of Training and Occupational Learning; and is also an Executive Associate of the Institute for Independent Business.

Dee also recently achieved the coveted Cambridge University qualification 'Certificate in English Language Teaching to Adults', achieving a rare B grade. This is awarded only to students who demonstrate consistent excellence of achievement throughout the course.
