

Making the Link -The Equine Element™

Attend the Equine Element and put into practice all you have learned and have "the learning experience of your life".

1 day (Groups of 6-8 persons)

Trust : Develop behaviours that build trust, explore the concept of choice and see for yourself the emotional responses obtained using The Equine Element™

Non-verbal behaviours: are unavoidable, transform your leadership effectiveness through a new approach using a blend of techniques from Adam Goodfellow the UK's top horseman and Samantha Southey. Work with horses from a variety of backgrounds in a beautiful Cotswold venue, near Cirencester.

The Missing Link: Authentic Everyday Leadership creates a sustainable way of doing leading teams, and the Equine Element™ releases potential through a heightened self-awareness and uses aspects of The Human Element® to explore the aspects of inclusion, openness and control and make the link to delivering top end performance.

Choice: Discover how every stimulus has a response, especially when working with horses. Explore the 'choice' concept when adapting your own style to get unprecedented results.

No previous experience with horses is required, however, if you do have horse experience come and discover a new way of working! All work with the horses is on the ground, and doesn't involve riding. Refreshments and Lunch are provided, but be sure to bring appropriate outdoor clothing and an open mind.
